Nazis Are Told Battle of Sicily Is Their Fight

By THOMAS F. HAWKINS
BERNE, Switzerland, July 16.—(AP)—Rome has let it be known clearly that the battle of Sicily is Germany's fight.

On top of the continued press bluster from the Fasces press, preparing the people for further battles, the Foreign Minister, Konstantin von Neurath, added an appeal to Berlin which implied both criticism and lack of Italian ability or will to support the struggle.

Germany is "defending her own soil," in Sicily and Pavolli in the memorandum. It means:

OPPOSE PROPAGANDA

Dispatches from Rome further alluded, for the first time since the invasion of Sicily, to the reaction of the Italian people against propaganda. The Italian press, however, trying to maintain the same high-spirited, frivolous articles like the one that parachute troops were sent on ahead of the ground troops, for the relaxation of advancing Allied troops.

"This does not reflect well on the Fasces," said a Rome report to the Neue Zuercher Zeitung. This was the first published confirmation of the Italian press' information in foreign diplomatic circles that when the theory of invasion became a reality, the propaganda campaign would not go into quick gloom and pathetic resistance.

Despite references to counter movements on the plains of Catania, the Fascists continued to talk gloomily about the military situation.

bomber Sicily, must be asking themselves if the present offensive in the west will be confined solely to the air.

ELECTRIC STATIONS
Four-engined Lancasters of the R.A.F. bomber command attacked electric transformer and switching stations in northern Italy. The only three nights after these large formations blasted the industrial centre of Trieste.

An armada of four engined R.A.F. bombers, in this case Halifax, attacked the Peugeot plant at Sochaux, near Montbéliard, in eastern France, only 35 miles west of Basel, Switzerland. The Peugeot plant, second only to the Renault works in Paris as a producer of motor vehicles, employs 10,000 persons and produces 10,000 cars a year, most in the two-ton category.

Weather over the Montbéliard area was clear and preliminary reports indicated that the attack was concentrated and effective, an air mission of 100 bombers.

The night's other attacks were concentrated by British and Canadian bombers on the northern and southern airfields in France, Holland and Belgium and on railway targets, tanks and other objectives. Some airfields were bombed several times within a few hours and crews reported explosions and fire on runways.

Total munition-producing capacity of the United States today is more than 540,000 tons a year.

Daily War Map—Exclusively in The Edmonton Bulletin

The map above shows how Allied invasion armies are advancing in Sicily with co-ordinated land, sea and air assaults. Strong Allied naval forces shelled the Italian naval base at Augusta, strongest in the area, and then moved westward to capture Gela, Vizzini, Scicli, Modica, Ragusa, Pachino, and Patti. Another column thrust westward, capturing the railroad town of Palazzolo and making a junction between Americans and Canadians at the rail centre of Ragusa.

They Know What It Means

The civilian population of Sicily, the correspondents to whom have shown no hostility toward the Allied invaders of their Island, in places they have welcomed the newcomers, have however shown any enthusiasm for their Fascist bosses, have quite generally demonstrated and hated the Germans, and are in no secret disrepect to the Allied invaders. Compare this reception with that given by the civilian populations to Axis troops in the Low countries, in France, in the Balkans, in Russia.

Sicily has been an isolated community. Its people have heard nothing but Axis propaganda. Racial ties and political association bind them to Italy. It was in Sicily that Mussolini first made the Italian liberation and unification. If Mussolini's stock is so low in Sicily that the popular temper ranges from positive antagonism to indifferent neutrality, the populace of Italy need probably hold him and his gangster policies in no higher esteem.

However the fact got across to them, the Sicilians know that the coming of the Allies means freedom from the tyranny that has been imposed by the Nazis. Despite the consorts and the propagandists, Italians on the neighboring mainland have no doubt caught the idea also.

Last Resort Appeals

Laval must have used up about all the tests in his propaganda barrel. Now he is warning Frenchmen that if they help Allied invasion forces he will not be able to defend them against the Nazi vengeance of course. Most of the 200,000 Frenchmen who have moved with Hitler or Mussolini will drop to the rank of a fourth or fifth world power.

Laval could hardly tell his countrymen more plainly what kind of a master he is trying to make them. Nor could he need information on the point. Nor could Mussolini more abjectly admit to what pass he has brought the Italian empire; if this was not already sufficiently plain to the people he has had to run.

The invasion of France in force would be heartily welcomed by the French people. Laval recognizes since he holds up Hitler as a monster in hope of frightening them into submission. That Mussolini fears a judgment day is equally clear, since he holds up Hitler as the one hope of Italy's restoration.

These are the pleas of desperate men who see fate closing in upon them, know that they are beaten, and are trying to appeal on their own merits to the tolerance of the people they have led through slavery into misery, humiliation and recentment.

Canada Must Have Fuel

If any person has not realized that the fuel situation in Canada is far from satisfactory, or has imagined that the danger of a winter shortage has been exaggerated, statements made on Wednesday should take care of that.

At Toronto an official said seventeen hundred factories in Ontario and Quebec will have to close or put on short coal rationing when cold weather comes. There will be a severe shortage of coal for domestic use and schools boards are to be restricted in purchases for winter.

At Ottawa the Minister of Labor appealed to miners and operators to cooperate in boosting production. There were 2,000 miners in the country for 3,000,000 tons, and more than this number would be needed if the output is to be increased by the four million tons required to meet all wartime demands. Mr. Mitchell added that the output of coal in Canada has been increased in the last two years and must be increased.

Other than ordering his winter coal without delay, there is not much the townsmen can do to prevent the threatened shortage to his family. Farmers who have lots are more fortunately situated. All can cooperate by keeping consumption of all kinds of fuel down to actual needs.

Mr. Mitchell suggests that not enough men have been recruited to mining or entering that occupation voluntarily. The alternative is to draft men for the mines through the Selective Service branch. Nobody would welcome that, unless the method improves the compulsory measure must have to be adopted.

Rolling Along

At the end of five days the invading forces which were in complete occupation of one of the two main supply bases of the Axis camp is a 25-mile distance from Washington more elongated than all the headline stories, because the two main supply bases are in the enemy of Canada and Britain and not a very good friend of the United States at the moment. It is an "enemy" of the "National" variety, that she is sacking $3,000,000 in the last two weeks.

Until the outbreak of the war, Finland was the only nation which kept up its resistance to the Nazi invasion, but the last week the Axis camp is a 25-mile distance from Washington.

Payments were stopped when that little country, normally one of the most democratic and progressive in Europe, first became the enemy of the war on the side of Hitler.

For some time now there have been reports of clandestine operations of the German intelligence service.

Whether they were only Goebbels-inspired plots to weaken Allied resolution and morale, or whether they were aimed at getting Canada and Britain to believe that the United States was the real enemy, is not known.

Thus for the operations due to start in the last week, the Germans had to depend on the lack of strong resistance. But only in part. To move so rapidly through a hostile country, always in expectation of meeting fierce resistance on any part of the route, is a difficult task.

For the needs of the pioneer infantry, there must be kept always artillery and tank units ready for instant battle, and in their wake columns of trucks carrying all the endless kinds and quantities of supplies needed by an army moving into a combat area.

It may be confidently assumed that the Allied leaders are allowing the advance to be made as rapidly as possible, the main idea being to get the maximum and supply columns as far as possible. An invasion is not a raid; no one knows that better than Montgomery and Patton. It is safe to suppose that at every point reached the forces are in such strength that the maximum number of the enemy could be engaged on any scale.

There need be doubt on that point. The seasoners campaigners who are in charge of the enterprise can be trusted to see to that.

The first official act of Ontario's new labor court was to order an election in a Wallaceburg plant, to find out which of the two rival unions had the majority.

Both sides are employing every means possible to get the election held as quickly as possible.

Now famine is a fact in Sicily, and there is no way to preserve industrial peace. It is certainly the democratic way.

Even an amateur strategist can understand by looking at his map that one Allied objective is to close the strait of Messina and isolate Sicily. That is the life-line of the Axis forces in the Balkans.

Sicily has been an isolated community.

Its people have heard nothing but Axis propaganda. Racial ties and political association bind them to Italy. It was in teem.

Stability of Canadian Farmer Essential to Peace

European Food Shortage May Feature End of War

By HAROLD L. WEIR
Editorial news columnist for the Edmonton Bulletin. He is a former member of the Canadian Parliament.

Since there is equally great possibility of a European war, it may not be a considerate factor in the war—although it is our duty to do everything we can to avert it.

The really dangerous factor is that this war is progressing toward a stalemate.

Now famine is a fact in Sicily, and there is no way to preserve industrial peace.

What our troops gain there will be lost in Sicily, and the same will be true of Sicily.

Twenty-five years ago we did not clearly see the changes women were bringing about. In the past we have seen progress steadily toward equality or identity with men. A war helps to accelerate this trend.

For the war will not be won until peace is thoroughly established and the war is over.

This means that the production of food is not only an essential factor in winning the war, but also an important factor in winning the peace.

Probably food production can be set up in Sicily as a result of the war, but it will be a factor in the entire international situation.

Labor Advances Ten Proposals For After War

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor in a brief submitted to the Commons post-war reconstruction and related legislation committee recommended yesterday the adoption of 10 proposals for post-war action as the views of the 200,000 organized workers.

The summarized proposals follow:

1. Maintenance of the present controls over the pace of transition from war to peace.

2. A comprehensive program of public works and national development projects, with a special emphasis on reconstruction.

3. Building up, by provincial and municipal authorities, of reserve funds for post-war reconstruction.

4. The establishment of a special type security in which such funds could be invested.

5. The maintenance of controls and the planning and execution of the works programs by the ministry of labor, farmer and consumer representatives, and by the controlling, planning and administrative board.

6. Maintenance of certain controls for as long as they are required to accomplish the purpose of fundamental social reconstruction.

6. Full employment "in the plain, ordinary meaning of the term."

7. State control of the economic system, to be based on social and whatever form may be necessary for full employment.

FOOD, HOUSE PROGRAM

8. A food and steel program, post-war food and housing program designed to assure all Canadians an adequate supply of nutrition, clothing, shelter, recreation and the raising of rural standards of living to the urban level.

9. Revision of international trade, protection of national social control of international monopolies and a system of international collective bargaining.

10. Amendment of the British North America act to give the Dominion government the power to deal with one or more of the entirely national social and economic questions and to perform Canadian interests in international organizations, including the continuing of the international labor organization.

The C.C.L. submission was read by Dr. Eugene Forsey, director of research.

Claim Nazis Plan "Fake" Invasion

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—Premier Mackenzie said yesterday that it was the opinion of the highest Canadian authorities that the Nazis were planning to fake landings on the coast and dropping of German paratroopers before British troops arrived.

He added the enemy hopes that the patriots will rush into the streets to help the Nazis and concealed to help the supposed invader. If they do, the radio warned, they will be rounded up in case of trouble and will be timed to coincide with the phony invasion.

"Under these circumstances, let yourself be tricked by stories about the arrival of the liberators," the broadcast said. "You know that it is the duty of every Canadian to see that you will be kept informed in due time and as soon as you can do anything useful."

FOR LIFE AND SPARKLE

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—Propponents of direct, north-south, trans-Canada highway drew encouragement yesterday from Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt's comment that the Nazis are planning to fake landings on the Pacific north coast to draw out and liquidate patriots.

Radio Orange said the German plan to fake landings faked landings on the coast and dropping of German paratroopers before British troops arrived.

He added the enemy hopes that the patriots will rush into the streets to help the Nazis and concealed to help the supposed invader.

The president's wife was a surprise guest at the Canadian Parliament in the internal affairs of the Dominion "would be the negation of Canada's equality of status with the United States," he said.

Mr. Duplessis had written to Mr. King, sending a copy of a message from the president to Churchill asking that the parliament at Westminster refuse to sans Canada's equality of status with the United States.

Mr. King had three primary reasons for his stand:

1. The matter was one of "minimum rights."

2. The fact that the British North America Act could not be amended in any particular without the consent of the provinces "does not seem to be mentioned either in history or in law."

3. Any intervention by the government of Canada in the internal affairs of Britain "would be the negation of Canada's equality of status with the United States," he said.

Mr. King had called for a closer relationship between Canada and Australia.

Mr. Duplessis is vitally interested in the future of the Pacific," he said.

"Above all, they are also concerned with the social and economic welfare of the people, the disappearance of the curse of unemployment and poverty which plagued the youth of our countries between the two world wars."

In the Peace River territory, weather has been ideal during the past week, with temperatures reaching 100 degrees and heavy showers. Wheat averages 12 to 14 per cent in shot head and 12 to 14 per cent in head. Other grains are 12 to 14 per cent in shot head and 12 to 14 per cent in head. Crop conditions are generally good.

No major damage is reported, although there has been some in several points. Livestock is good and summerfallowing and haying are well under way.

Is Laid to Rest
In Family Vault

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—Post-mortem services were held yesterday for Sir Harry Oakes, wealthy mining magnate, who was adjudged to death in his Bantam, Ontario, home last week.

In a small funeral parlour, Rev. W. H. H. Mahase, a friend of the 68-year-old baron, conducted the services with members of Sir Harry's family and only a few close friends.

Sir Harry's body was brought back Wednesday night to this town to be interred in his childhood home in industrial cauldron, said William Mahase, of the Ministry of

Italo General Fought 'Lika Da Gentleman' Until Up Come Monty

OTTAWA, July 16.—(CP)—A bulky 50-year-old Italian general, Achille D'Avet, sat in the wardrobe of an Allies' destroyer in the Mediterranean and said: "Everything went post."

It was his description of the Canadian landings on Sicily which his 100-year-old mother had dictated to him in a letter to his son, Achille, 22, a Canadian who had been serving with the Royal Canadian Engineers in Sicily and No. 1 Monk, a correspondent for the London Daily Mail.

The Canadians, once landed, had practically no resistance from D'Avet's division.

In the wardroom of a destroyer, to which he had been sent as a prisoner of war, D'Avet had a request to make:

"Tell your wife in Rome that I fight like a gentleman until up comes this very fine gentleman, Montgomery."

• War Stamp Tea First of Kind

Fifty dollars worth of War Savings Stamps were sold yesterday at the home of Mrs. Eric W. Cherry, 1002 10th Street, in the mid-city sector of the Citizens' Bureau. This was the first tea held in the city by Edmonton's "Stamp Out the U-Boat" campaign. Other teas organized by the Citizens' Bureau through the districts of the city and the block captains are being arranged throughout the city for the remaining days of the month.

All arrangements for the Rossdale tea were in charge of Mrs. E. C. Flanders, Mrs. N. Stokel, and Mrs. G. M. Martin, second vice-block leaders. Mrs. L. Curran, Mrs. T. Mowbray, Mrs. J. Mitchell and Mrs. J. King served tea. Mrs. H. S. Cherry was in charge of the stamp sales. Mrs. Cherry reported a ready response to sales.

A tea was held yesterday evening at St. Michael's hall in North Edmonton under the sponsorship of Mrs. A. H. Evans, 500 10th Avenue. The tea was a success and stamp sales were good. A house-to-house canvas for war savings stamps was also held as a result of the total activities on Thursday evening, the women in charge sold $100 worth of stamps.

Only the best in bridge cards are shown in the box today. With the opening lead, spades, you are confronted with a problem in connection with the opening lead. The entire situation before playing is the first risk.

First, you will see how fortunate you are that you did not get a diamond opening, especially if East holds the king. Next you must decide if the king is offside and that the club suit will not break. You can see that if the club is broken, the king is offside. The king of hearts is offside, you cannot make the contract. If the club break is offside, you have a good chance to make the hand a ruffing

A spade, returning to your hand with the ace of clubs and ruffing the club.

Now cash the king of clubs, but don't lead the club queen. Lead a spade club at this point. You will cash the king of hearts if West overruffs and leads a diamond, you can only hope that he led away from the club. If he leads a spade, with a spade, ruff it, pick up trumps, go over to the ace of diamonds, and cash the king of diamonds, the queen of clubs.

TUMBLING DW RANCH, Nevada—Some days ago I found out from the War Production Board what the situation was as regards wool production in the country, and to my surprise our problem was as to where to get our problem was one of acquiring enough raw wool to meet our needs today.

But in the intervening time we built up a government-owned stock pile to meet our needs.

Two years ago we conserved raw wool by limiting the use of it by blending it with other fibers. This is still the trouble is that we have more demands from the military and for essential and civilian uses than we can possibly produce. Therefore we are trying to increase production through extra hours, but every hour we add to the cost of production, and this is difficult to do. We are now producing all the available wool and the cost of production is high, so that yardage by making all economies possible in the manufacture of essential items.

I think some of the criticisms which have come to me about the details of the way we are doing things are well founded, should have consideration. Sometimes the people actually in the industry know what is best for the industry and are not really as good for the average consumer as they are for the trade, or for the government.
